Dear Mr. Bryson,

This will confirm the results of the trial period involving the use of the Electro Braid moose mats at the Wasilla Municipal Airport, Wasilla, Alaska.

As you are well aware, the past operations at our airport prior to the installation of the moose mats had been compromised by the unwanted entry of moose onto the air operation area during the winter months and occasionally during spring and fall. Since we could not let this potential unsafe condition exist, we were compelled to remove these animals. The removal of these large animals became extremely difficult and labor intensive.

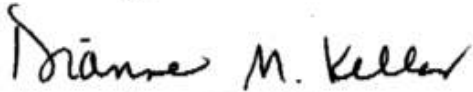

After consultation with your firm we agreed to the installation of the moose mats for a trial period beginning in the fall of 2005 to the spring of 2006. I am very pleased to report the interdiction of moose onto the air operations area of the airport has been complete and without one documented event of a moose crossing the Electro Braid moose mats since they were installed. On one occasion a moose calf bolted across the ElectroMAT and the mother who wouldn't follow, watched and waited while some people rounded up her baby and brought it back to her.

We have observed these mats and they have proven effective as well as durable and virtually maintenance free. There have been no problems with snow plows or with snow and ice buildup in winter, etc., for over a period of three years. We are looking forward to many more seasons with these great results.

In view of our finding we have been an advocate of this very humane way of protecting the air operations area. We have discussed the benefits of the mats with State and local governments. Most recent discussions were with U.S. Congressman Don Young, including a trip to the airport for his on-site inspection. Needless to say, he was very favorable impressed.

Thank you for letting our airport be the first in the U.S. and have an opportunity to work with this innovative technology. Please give our compliments to Richard Lampman and his installation technicians.

Sincerely,
